

Governor's Daily News Summary

January 17, 2001

<http://www.clarionledger.com/>

Natural gas prices beyond state's control

Musgrove backs tougher seat belt law

Clergy, others speak against death penalty

Senate bill would free federal funds for needy rural hospitals

Governor: Another round of budget cuts possible

Justice Dept. takes city to court

Editorials

Rid 'Old Missus' at 'Musgrove U'

Redo flag? Why not truck as well?

Post-Civil War blacks not lynched under Confederate flag

<http://web.sunherald.com>

Taylor lobbies to retain his stronghold when state remaps

Remaking MDOT won't be rushed, key senator says AP Photo

Bishops call for moratorium on death penalty

Rural hospital aid bill considered by Senate

Musgrove sidesteps appointed vs. elected

Editorial: Statewide officials owe constituents a stand on the flag

<http://www.djournal.com/djournal/site/articles/news/news.htm>

House bill could delay Tupelo redistricting

Mississippi speaker speculates on redistricting, budget

Advocates call for more Mississippi home-based programs for disabled

Mantles of leadership -- Flag issue falls heavily on shoulders of public officials

Letters to the Editor

<http://www.desototimes.com>

Flag issue a matter of pride for some, economics for others

<http://www.natchezdemocrat.com/>

Taylor: No decision on Titan cuts

First lady campaigns for literacy

MDOT gives notice to proceed on U.S. 61

